

Devour books for a good cause!

Book ownership has a threefold impact on children's propensity to read, yet one million UK children do not own a single book. Without books of their own these children are less likely to see reading as an opportunity for inspiration or relaxation and longer-term will be less able to access education.

This term, we're teaming up with the Children's Book Project to help change that. Pupils are invited to unleash their inner book monster by gobbling up stories, feeding their imaginations, and raising funds to help get books into the hands of children who need them most.
